Chesapeake Corporate Advisors Pre-Transaction Readiness Assessment

CCA has developed a process and methodology to assist business owners as they prepare for a future sale or liquidity event.

CCA's Pre-Transaction Readiness Assessment is designed to ensure that a business is well-positioned to enter the market and run a process as efficiently as possible with the goal of maximizing value. Preparation is critical, and CCA is experienced in understanding and preparing to overcome the challenges of a transaction in an increasingly sophisticated M&A marketplace. A typical Pre-Transaction Readiness Assessment engagement includes the following elements:

Marketability Assessment

- Review current M&A market conditions, including macro-economic environment of the capital markets and the industry-specific conditions of the sector.
- Select relevant precedent transactions for valuation guidance.
- Analyze the size and quality of the potential buyer universe.
- Identify potential marketability challenges of the seller.

Valuation Analysis

- Review historical and prospective financial statements.
- Identify key add-backs to cash flow and normalization adjustments.
- Analyze and benchmark financial metrics based on company size and market sector.
- Perform working capital analysis.

Value Enhancement Focus

- Identify and analyze company and industry value drivers and value detractors.
- Evaluate implementing value sharing plans with nonowner key executives.
- Perform scenario and sensitivity analyses of value based on proposed future strategies, particularly anticipated acquisitions or capital investments.
- Develop plans to minimize investment in cash-free/ debt-free working capital.

Due Diligence Readiness

- Perform a pre-sale Quality of Earnings.
- Assess employment contracts and restrictive covenants of the key executive team.
- Review of fundamental corporate organizational documents by legal counsel.
- Review material contracts for provisions.
- Assess quality and timeliness of internal and external financial reporting.
- Evaluate quality of audit firm and legal counsel.

At Chesapeake Corporate Advisors (CCA), we use proprietary methodologies deeply rooted in experience, creativity, and comprehensive data analysis to deliver services in the three following areas: Strategic Advisory Services, Investment Banking Services and Financial Opinions.